Parque Arroyo “El Capitán”

In 2018, the municipality of San Pedro Garza Garcia conducted a thorough social study with the community and established lines of action to create a public space of 14 hectares for recreational, hydraulic, ecological, and sports purposes aimed at attracting families, young athletes, and in general, a public-green and environmental space for the entire community; a new world-class park in the metropolitan area of Monterrey.

Basketball courts, multi-use areas for informal sports such as soccer, flag football, and baseball have been located on green areas that will be illuminated until late at night.

An unprecedented pump track has been specially implemented in this municipality, which will attract young people from various social strata in the region. Giant artificial rocks have also been installed to introduce young people and children to rappelling and climbing.

The design of jogging and cycling tracks now connects to an extensive system existing in the main avenues of the municipality. Other elements include playground designs, special places based on small plazas for picnics, as well as two public restroom modules, kiosks, and lookout terraces.
